HUMORS OF THE DAY.

IN LIQUOR: U and I.

THE saddest consequences of a great man's death are the verses that are written to his memory.—Picayune.

AN ADVERTISEMENT in a Western paper says, "Lost, two cows; one of them is a bull." So is the advertisement.—Oil City Derrick.

"I'll make you dance," cried an irate mother, pursuing an erring son, slipper in hand. "Then," remarked Krauf, "we shall have a brawl."

Two drinks a day, remarks an exchange, will supply a family with flour. This, of course, refers to the saloon-keeper's family.—Syracuse Herald.

KATE FIELD wants the men to wear knee breeches. Following her advice would lessen the price of pantaloons, but it would make hosiery very high.

AN EXCHANGE describes a ballet dancer's dress. The description, though short, is about three inches longer than the dress.—Norristown Herald. We want things of that kind no longer.—Grip.

"Don't talk too much; try and be a good listener," said a father to his little boy; but when he caught the lad with his ear to the keyhole one day, when his sister's beau came to see her, he thought the boy didn't fully catch on to his meaning.

"WHERE do people go who deceive their fellow men?" inquired a Sunday-school teacher. "Sometimes to Canada, but mostly they go to Europe," was the reply of a youngster whose uncle has recently been a trusted officer in a local bank.—Exchange.

PAT was sauntering along the street, when he came upon a workman cutting down a decayed telegraph pole. Surveying the operation with a look of mingled surprise and regret, he muttered, "Begorra, it's too bad; if it kapes on this way, there'll be no forrist trees left in the country."

"LEND me an X," said Jim to Joe;

"I can't, Jim, for this reason:

I have no cash, besides, you know,

This ain't the Lenten season."

It is now the sparrows flutter

In the gutter,

And the house-maid, very utter,

Scrubs the shutter.—Puck.

A BEAR, wishing to rob a bee-hive, laid himself down in front of it and overturned it with his paw. "Now," said he, "I will lie perfectly still and let the bees sting me until they are exhausted and powerless; their honey may then be obtained without opposition." And it was so obtained, but by a fresh bear, the other being dead.

CLASSICAL: "But, sir," objected the lady, "there is that Chinese laundry in the next block. If it was not for that I should have no objection." "Why, madam," remonstrated the house agent, "this locality is considered a particularly desirable one. No objectionable neighbors, no—" "You are mistaken, sir," with offended dignity, "I saw it myself. It had 'Chi Psi' over the door."

A CROCODILE outdone: A crocodile stole a baby once in the days when animals could talk, and was about to make a dinner of it. The poor mother begged piteously for her child. "Tell me one truth," said the crocodile, "and you shall have your baby again." The grief-stricken mother thought for a moment and then said, between her sobs: "I shall buy a new bonnet next spring." "Take the baby," said the alligator, clubbing himself as he spoke, "I am not fly enough for you."—Chicago Tribune.

THE mind of the scholar, if you would have it large and liberal, must come in contact with other minds.—Longfellow.

Whipping a Biloch.

From a governing aspect the Biloch is infinitely to be preferred to the Afghan. Though physically in bulk and weight of body, he is the Afghan's equal in courage, and his superior in endurance and intelligence. One specially good trait in his character is, that he never sulks or bears malice long, whereas the Afghan does both. Here are illustrations in point. I never remember having an Afghan whipped in jail without the fellow showing by his sullen looks and scowling face that he bore the striker, if not myself, a grudge for it. But here, in the Derah Ghazi Khan Jail, the punishment over, the Biloch is as frank and pleasant as he was before. One man, I remember, who was in as a bad character, would not work. He was warned that he would be whipped. He merely laughed, and said, "That won't make any difference, sahib." He was shown a man being whipped; he only looked grave. Finally he was whipped himself. He was taken out of his cell, stripped naked, tied wrists and ankles to the triangle and given twenty or thirty—I forget the exact number—strokes with a rattan. During the operation he bit at the wood, bit almost through his tongue, but never either groaned or winced. The punishment over, he threw himself on the ground on his face, when the usual skin of cold water was dashed over him, and then the commiserating water-carrier stood upon the beaten parts to deaden the pain. Still he would not work. I saw him a day or two after in his cell, looking happy and unconcerned, though he still must have been very sore, and for days would not be able to sit down. He was pleased to see me. He seemed to have an idea that, not being in jail for any specific and proved offense, it was not right to give him hard labor, and so put him on the level of a convicted felon. I remonstrated with him for his obstinacy, to no effect.

One day I observed his splendid curls shining with oil or ghee. I asked him how he had got it. He had saved it from his food, was his answer. I cut his ghee; still no effect. At last, as his example was becoming infectious, I warned him that if he would not work I should have him transferred to the Multan Jail, where I believed his Absalom-like hair would be cut short. That threat frightened him—his ringlets being the glory of the Biloch; he said he would try to do work. He made a pretense of trying, and failing, was sent off to Multan, where, I have no doubt he is now, though prison-cropped, as smiling and light-hearted a do-nothing as he was here. Now it is not in the Afghan nature to behave as that Biloch did, and that Biloch's case is typical of others. Similarly circumstanced the Afghan would have sulked, worked, fallen ill from fretting and some day after his release, perhaps, killed the human instrument who had beaten him. I have known that to happen in Bannu.—Blackwood's Magazine.

NO MAN with money about his clothes could ever retire without having a woman with him, a wife, of course, to frighten off the burglars. A reformed thief yesterday told us that a burglar would sooner enter a room containing four men and twice as many revolvers as one having only one woman in it—for neither the men nor the revolvers can squeal like a woman.—Kentucky State Journal.

THE Laws of Health says "a great many people have too much brains and not enough vigor of body." 'Spose that means they've got too much laziness and not enough industry.—Kentucky State Journal.

FOR CONGRESS.

We are authorized to announce JAMES P. HARBESON, of Fleming county, as a candidate for Congress, subject to the action of the Democracy in convention assembled.

We are authorized to announce Col. J. SMITH HURT, of Bath County, as a candidate for Congress in the 9th Congressional District at the next November election. Subject to the action of the democratic party.

We are authorized to announce that Dr. A. G. Browning, of Fleming county, is a candidate for Congress, in this the (9th) district, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

MRS. FRED DOUGLAS is dead.

The wheat market at Chicago last week closed with a slight decline. Stocks at New York were reported weak and dull.

The Senate has confirmed the nomination of W. W. Astor to be minister to Italy.

The board of councilmen, of Cincinnati, have under consideration an ordinance providing for the abolishment of the toy pistol. It is right. The toy pistol is dangerous. Hundreds of deaths from lockjaw occasioned by its use in the hands of children have occurred in the last few months. It should be abolished everywhere.

True Democracy.

The Democratic party of Indiana have taken something like a new departure by resolving to come back to the old paths. In their state convention this week they formally "indorsed the Democracy of Thomas Jefferson."

And this is the only true Democracy and everything else assuming that name is sheer imposture and sham. We are at last coming back to the old days of honesty, simplicity and economy. No more jobbery in legislation; no more wasteful expenditure of the public money, no more costly contrivances for collecting the revenue, no more Credit Mobilier, Little Rock, Fort Smith and Star-Route frauds; finally no more odious and oppressive taxation to provide for corrupt appropriations in the interest of sectional lobbyists and political jobbers. With the restoration of the Jeffersonian regime honesty and competency must come to the front.

TRAGIC DEATH.

The Aeronaut of Myers & Shorb's Circus Drops With the Balloon in the Ohio and is Drowned.

The Accident Witnessed by Thousands of People.

One of the regular features of Myers & Shorb's Big United States Circus, which exhibited here on Saturday, is a free balloon ascension just before the afternoon performance each day. About 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon the ascension was made here in a balloon that weighed 2,100 pounds by W. Restorton, a native of Southampton, England, who had joined the circus in Canada about four weeks ago. There was no basket to the balloon, but merely an iron bar to which the aeronaut clung while making the ascension. It was inflated with hot air and when loosed took a northwesterly direction and in a few minutes attained an altitude of probably a fourth of a mile. When opposite Beasley's bar it began descending, and when it was evident that it would fall in the river Restorton motioned several times to some boatmen on the Kentucky shore to come to his rescue. The balloon came down very rapidly with Restorton hanging to the trapeze bar by his hands. When it struck the water he sank but reappeared in a few seconds some thirty feet away. He swam a few strokes in the direction of a skiff rowed by Moses Adams, but sank and never reappeared. It is supposed that he had been struck and disabled by the trapeze bar as it touched the water. The unfortunate young man is spoken of by his companions in the circus company as a man of excellent character and habits, and much regret was expressed at his untimely end.

Ohio ranks sixth among the States as to the quantity of lumber produced.

COUNTY POINTS.

SARDIS.

The sounds most familiar to us are the voices of happy jovious children who have never sinned or sorrowed, engaged in their childish sports; or the silvery peals of laughter as musical as the dancing, gurgling streamlet when some happy group is out to enjoy the eventide; or such sounds as are usual in the course of business. But on Friday night last things were different. Stalwart forms might have been seen about the witching hour bearing weapons that brightly gleamed in the moonlight. Under the deep shadow of some awning they might be seen to stop. Consultation was carried on in whispers. Finally they repaired to their rendezvous. Suddenly the sharp report of a rifle breaks upon the still air. Cries of anguish are heard. Excitement is intense. Expectation is on tip toe. What does, what can it mean? But soon the mystery is solved. What is known as the ca. is familiaris had forsaken the customs of his kind and gone back in his ways to aboriginal habits. Hidden away by day he made natural raids. By desperate effort he was driven from his lair, and as furiously he bounded across a campus a member of our Rifle Club brought him to earth. "By struggling moonbeams misty light" the last rites were performed. Quiet was restored. Another bark had gone down forever.

No need for unavailing tears. But what said those persons who thought perchance a tragedy of thrilling import had occurred? The stifled c—ought as the head was drawn back and the window sash let drop had a meaning. But charity must here throw a veil over all, and let us suppose and hope that the disturbed ones were soon again in the arms of Morpheus perfectly oblivious to sublimity matters. For further particulars apply to A. J. S.

Bound for that place, you know,
Where those who fall to win are sent;
And Johnnie Kirk will go.

Mrs. J. H. Wedding returned Saturday from a pleasant visit to Cincinnati.

COL. FRANK S. OWENS and family will go to the Blue Lick Springs this week.

PICKETT's majority over Col. Goggin in 1880, was seven hundred and sixty-one.

Dr. W. T. Hord, U. S. Navy, and Mr. F. T. Hord and wife of Indianapolis, are the guests of Mr. J. H. Rogers.

REV. ZEAL OWENS, of Florida, will preach at the Baptist church to-morrow (Tuesday) evening at 8 o'clock. All are invited to attend.

Body Recovered.

The body of one of the children of the Bogie family, drowned during the flood in Lawrence creek, last week, was found on the 4th inst., several miles away from the scene of the disaster. An inquest was held over the remains by corner Cockrell, on Saturday.

On Saturday last the magistrates of this county bought from the Hon. E. C. Phister and wife eighteen feet of ground and from Mr. Charles Phister and wife forty feet. These lots are on Third street and adjoin the lot bought by the county for jail purposes some time ago. They extend back 180 feet. The price paid was $81 a foot and the additional sum of $250. By removing the culvert that is under the first lot bought there will be about 100 feet of ground suitable for building.

Election Notes.

The election is in progress and going off quietly.

At eight o'clock this morning the vote at Lewisburg, stood four to one in favor of Fitzgerald.

At the upper polls this morning for nearly an hour not a single Republican vote was polled.

At Mayslick this morning at 8 o'clock Fitzgerald and Kirk had received an equal number of votes. Kirk's friends claimed for him forty majority in this precinct.

When the polls closed at noon to-day, in the two Maysville Precincts Dennis Fitzgerald had a majority of two hundred and five votes.

Up to half past eight o'clock this morning at the upper polls only eight colored persons had voted. Six of them voted for the Democratic ticket and two for the Republican.

Deering Camp Meeting.

Saturday's and Sunday's Proceedings. Interesting Sermons by Dr.'s West, Tudor, and Hendrix.

Items of Interest in and About the Camp.

From our Special Correspondent.

SATURDAY.

Rev. H. C. Morrison led in morning worship. He is a young man of promise. Dr. J. A. Henderson conducted the devotional meeting. The theme was prayer. After briefly stating nature and object of this duty and privilege he very sensibly said that public prayers ought to be brief.

The doctor is a valuable accession here as he enters heartily into all the services, social enjoyments and dining hall arrangements.

At 11 a. m. the new shed was set apart to sacred purposes appropriate services whilst not formally dedicated. Dr. West's sermon was based on Col. 1: 19:20. He stated that man was made perfect in intellect, sensibility and will. He was thus constituted man. By his own volition he was estranged from God as were angels. The vexed problem of evil is solved by the doctrine of perfection. God could go no further in the creation of man than to give him a free will. God's own finger could not be laid upon this. In this condition of things evil had its origin. After these facts had been elaborated it was shown that in Christ was a fulness to meet the wants of all created intelligences and bring them together in harmony with God. Doing good, loving God and honoring his son all fear might be dismissed from our mind. All would be well now and evermore, and of those thus doing there would be constituted one family finally, congregated in an abode of eternal blessedness.

Dr. Hendrix preached at 3 p. m. from the words:

"As for me and my house we will serve the Lord"—Joshua, 24, 15.

He spoke in substance as follows: Joshua not only acknowledges his responsibility for the religious character of his household but boldly declares it. He is so confident as to the results of faithful teaching and training in religious principles that he has no doubt as to the result. He as fully believes that his family will remain loyal to God as that he himself will. Nor is he an exceptional case. It was thus that every patriarch felt himself responsible for the religious training of his household. In short, this was God's plan in the creation of the human race. In place of making men as He had originally made the angels, full grown at creation and each a separate intelligence, unconnected by any close ties of relationship with any other. He determined to create but a single adult pair whom every consideration of natural love would prompt to fidelity in the religious training of their offspring would urge them to early train them religiously, so that their characters might take on permanent type. Who does not see that if man had thus heartily cooperated with God's plan that there need never have been an adult sinner since the first human pair? All these appeals to unconverted adults are abnormal. They should be made no doubt but it was not God's original design for man to become old in sin and then to be besought with tears to lead a new life. They should be so faithfully trained as never to wander from the Savior's side.

This view of the Divine plan is enforced by the following considerations:

1. The promise of God is to fidelity rather than piety. It is no discount on a man's piety that he should rear Godless children but it reflects on his fidelity. A Godly minister may witness the conversion of hundreds because he is faithful and labors constantly for that end, and may yet rear unconverted children for whose salvation he has not labored with like constancy. A farmer's fidelity to his wheat does not mean that he shall raise good corn. A bountiful harvest of corn is the reward of his fidelity to his corn. Training means daily, constant, faithful work until the service of God becomes second nature, under the operation of His Holy Spirit. It is thus that a soldier is trained until he cannot err in the military drill. A child is a religious being to be faithfully trained. 2. Childhood is the period for the formation of character. Character crystallizes around the principles taught in the earlier years. Four-fifths of the criminal classes enter on their vicious career when less than fifteen years of age.

3. The parental office is charged with the most important responsibilities. The parent represents God and is for long years a type of God to the child. He is the High Priest in his own home. His priestly office is more sacred than that of the pulpit itself. Should the pulpit be silent religion would still live if the same altars were kept up. But let them fail and the pulpit becomes inoperative. Under God's plan, every home is to be a temple and every parent a priest.

This responsibility is met by giving your thought and time to it. Some of you Kentucky farmers give more time to your horses than to your children. The religious training of your household should be the chief business of your life.

Use faithfully God's word in obedience to the 11th commandment, "These words thou shalt teach diligently unto thy children." They have depraved natures. They are innocent but not pure. The laws should be their school master to bring them to Christ. Encourage them to come to Christ. So soon as they disobey God they can obey him. So soon as they can sin they can repent of their sins. Faithfully instruct in all christian duties and you will see their characters take on permanent type of supreme devotion to Christ.

Dr. B. T. Kavanaugh preached an excellent discourse at night from Psalm 84: 11. We have not space to attempt an outline. Suffice it to say that in all the services to-day there was a feast of fat things.

The audience assembled at 11 a. m., was very large notwithstanding the fact that the trains were late in arriving at the grounds. In order to prevent confusion the gates had to be closed. No blame perhaps attaches to any one for what was really a misfortune to those who were denied the privilege of hearing the morning sermon. Looking at the vast audience at this hour, so attentive, so decorous in every respect, no one could doubt the fact that there is still interest in the religion of Jesus Christ. "The inspiration of the world is in a person. The thought of the world centers about a person." That person is Jesus the Christ—the son of Mary—the son of God. We hope to present to the readers of the BULLETIN to-morrow an outline of the thought pursued by Dr. West. At 3 p. m., Dr. Tudor, of St. Louis, Mo., preached from the words, "So Daniel was taken up out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found upon him, because he believed in his God."

"Faith in God" was treated in a masterly manner. This must be a true faith. True faith is tried by both adversity and prosperity. A true faith is a wonder working faith. It glorifies God. The sermon at night was by Dr. Hendrix. Text, St. John 14:1—God's cure for trouble is belief—faith. Faith commits our all to God who is omniscient and omnipotent. Faith brings peace, comfort and joy.

All these efforts were really grand ones. They were commented upon in the highest terms. Good has been done, hearts comforted, resolves of better lives formed.

The order on the grounds was good. There were about 2,500 or 3,000 people in attendance. A great many remain. The outlook for the coming week is good.

The record of another day's work at Deering Camp Grounds is above. May it be seen when at last the books are opened that great and lasting good was accomplished.

SUNDAY.

Rev. C. J. Nugent conducted morning worship.

The devotional meeting was led by Dr. Evans. A number related their religious experience. The meeting was a very profitable one.

Rev. M. D. Reynolds, of Maysville, Ky., preached the sermon to the children, at 10 a. m. Text: Prov. XXIII, 26. "My son give me thy heart." The sermon treated under two heads, the who and the what. The who stand for those to whom God speaks in the text. The what stands for what God called on them to do, this is "give me thy heart." That Mr. Reynolds succeeded in a difficult undertaking is evidenced by the fact that the children were delighted with his instructions.

CAMP NOTES.

On Sunday there was a large attendance.

Dr. W. T. Poynter shows great tact in maintaining order. He desires the good of those who attend these meetings and seeks to secure this end.

Miss Laura Gould, of Eminence, and Miss Amanda Trigg, of Mason county, leave the encampment to-day to the regret of many friends.

The audiences have been remarkably attentive to preaching.

Capt. Cook, of Cincinnati, is here.

That excellent paper, the True Kentuckian, was represented on Saturday by Col. Craddock, editor, and Allen Roby, correspondent from Millersburg.

Mr. Wm. Thaxton made a short stay at the encampment. It was here that he met that accomplished lady who is now his wife.

Prominent among the representatives from Mason, we noticed Mr. John Pyles—his nieces Misses Annie and Rettie, of Covington, with Mrs. Ollie Bland accompanying him.

The barber shop, in keeping with all of the appointments of the grounds, is first-class.

Marshall James Barnett is here as of yore, and he is one of the cleverest of gentlemen. The order so far has been good.

Noticeable among the sojourners here are Mrs. F. M. Vanden, of Covington, and Mrs. A. R. Glascock and family, of Maysville, who occupy cottage No. 101, newly built and one of the best on the grounds. Both ladies being genial and lively their cottage is a pleasant resort for friends visiting the grounds.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Mr. Thomas Y. Nesbitt has returned from Owingsville.

Mrs. Allen, of Augusta, and her sister Miss Carrie McAtee, left on Saturday, to visit friends at Seymour and Lafayette, Ind.

Mr. J. M. Johnson, of Chillicothe, Ohio, teacher of penmanship and vocal music, who has spent the past eight months at Portsmouth, Ohio, giving instructions in those branches, will be in this city about the 15th of this month bearing letters of introduction from the leading citizens of that city.

Defense of Animals.

Mr. Arthur Stradling publishes the following note on the offensive and defensive habits of animals: A serpent's first instinctive impulse of self-preservation, like that of every other animal, lies in escape. If surprised suddenly, or brought to bay at close quarters, it may be too terror-stricken to attempt flight; then it bites, following a curious general rule which seems to obtain throughout nearly the whole animal world, from a passionate child downward, no matter what the natural methods of offense may be. Young Felidae will keep their talons sheathed until they have exerted all possible force with their soft milk-teeth, and a lizard will seize the hand which restrains it with its insignificant little jaws when its tail or claws might inflict far more injury. The Boidae never use their constrictive powers in self-defense (unless they are gripped), and it seems probable that if a venomous snake's fangs lay in its tail it would use its teeth first when attacked before bringing them into play. Indeed, it must be remembered that very few animals are provided with exclusively defensive weapons, and that the python's enormous strength in constriction, the viper's poison apparatus and the electric discharge of the gymnotus are given them primarily for the purpose of securing their food.

A Curious Fact.

Professor W. D. Gunning, the noted scientist and geologist, made the following statement in a recent lecture: A codfish in one year lays 3,000,000 eggs. Suppose that every egg became a cod; suppose that in all the universe there is only one codfish; that all germs lived, and that space furnished matter, as the fishes furnished eggs. On the morning of your twentieth birthday you hold this fish on the palm of your hand, walk out on a pier, and drop the cod into the sea. Then fly. Under your feet in one year will be an ocean of cod, investing the globe and overtopping the loftiest peaks of Colorado. With the speed of light fly. Through the depths of space fly. The swelling, bounding globe of cod is after you, and on the morning of your fortieth birthday it will overtake you and engulf you in Onon's rebula! The speaker couldn't tell a bigger fish story than that.

The decomposition of ozone is slower in sunlight than in the dark.

The New and the Old.

"Oh, papa," said little Tommy the other day, "didn't you say there was nothing new under the sun?" "Yes, my boy, the philosophers say so." "Well, look under me," went on the young hopeful, getting up off of the old gentleman's bran new silk hat, "that's something new under the son, ain't it?" The next thing the boy knew there was something old under the son, and it was his father's boot, with a foot in it.—Lampton.

Crows have been known to go to roost with the barnyard fowls during a cold storm.

THE Murray Hill Publishing Company received an order from a gentleman in the West whose letter-head shows that he is Postmaster, Notary Public, Justice of the Peace, undertaker, a dealer in headstones, groceries, dry goods, notions, hardware, tinware, saddlery, boots and shoes and agricultural implements. We would recommend our friend to study veterinary surgery, finishing with a course in human medicine, and with these added accomplishments he will be able to attend to every want of his neighborhood.

A sad illustration of the terrible blight which hereditary syphilis may be, is related by a physician of Manchester, England. A boy at ten years of age, a subject of this disease, was afflicted with an inflammation of the eyes that permanently impaired vision; later, with an inflammation of the throat that destroyed the soft palate; at eighteen the parts of the bones of the legs decayed and came away; at twenty the skull showed signs of dead bone on the right side of the forehead.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.
ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring-bone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours,
P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.
B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure,' one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great.
Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.
Send address for illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for honest as well as man.
Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO. Enosburgh Falls, Vermont. [27d.]
